Dear Family Members,

My deepest apologies for the time that has passed since you purchased "Yowell and Related Families" and the publishing of the enclosed Addendum and Bibliography. As we all know, life is unpredictable and I had no idea that other endeavors would take all my time and effort.

However, as time has passed, more information has been sent to me to be included in the papers so perhaps you may feel that the wait was worthwhile. I certainly hope so.

I am sorry that the quality of some of the photos in the papers is so poor. Some are due to poor quality prints that I scanned from, others are regrettably due to my haste in scanning and not for any other reason.

Sincerely,

Ann Y. Cook

BIBLIOGRAPHY - CONFIRMATION

3. From "Genealogical and Historical Notes on Culpeper County, Virginia". (Embracing a Revised and Enlarged Edition of Dr. Philip Slaughter's History of St. Mark's Parish). Compiled and Published by Raleigh Travers Green, 1900.

"Culpeper Classes" Militia Men Selected by County to serve with Lafayette and the Continental Army. The Culpeper Classes were lists of men and boys who were selected by the County at the request of the state for aid to Lafayette and the Continental Army. Probably all had been militia men, as training was required at this time. Some fought at Yorktown. The numbers to the right of the names in the index refer to the number of the class to which the men belonged. It seems that there were 106 classes. Anyone tracing her ancestry to a soldier on this list is acceptable for D.A.R. membership. This list is from the National Archives. Yowell, David, 70.

"Daughters of Michael Clore, the emigrant. Agnes Margaret married Michael O'Neale of Irish origin. Michael Clore in his will carefully provides that his son-in-law shall not benefit by what he leaves his daughter. Several O'Neales, O'Neils, Oneals are found a little later who probably are the children of this marriage but only one can be proved as such, namely, William Oneal who on Oct. 19, 1767, as son of Michael Oneal, decd. joins with Margaret Oneal, widow of said Micahel, in selling land which had been willed by Michael Clore to John Clore. Catherine Clore, daughter of Michael, married Martin Wallick (Walk) and had children, see Michael Clore's will. This will implies that she was dead or had separated from her husband. But in 1782 Martin Wallock of Roanoke County, North Carolina and Catherine, his wife, sell land in Culpeper Co., VA.

ADDENDUM - PREFACE AND CHAPTER I

From Everett Carrington Yowell, Dayton, Ohio: page i., column 2, E. C. Yowell of Dayton, Ohio is correct, Everett Carrington Yowell of Oakwood, Ohio should be deleted.

1., page 1 Children of Christoph UHL and Eva Gottsaurin:

Jerg Friedrich, born 10 May 1705, Sulzfeld is not John. vii. John was b. ca 1719 in Virginia; viii. Christopher, Jr., b. ca 1720 in Virginia; ix. Rebecca, b. ca 1723 in Virginia; and x. Elizabeth, b. ca 1725 in Virginia. This conforms to the information in the Zimmerman, Cerny book "Zimmerman, Yowell, Mercklin, Wegman, Leatherer" book. Regarding the location of Sulzfeld, Germany, he suggests that the correct location is northwest of Stuttgart, not southwest.

2., page 11: John Yowell, son of Christopher and Eva (Gottsaurin) Yowell, was born ca 1719 in Virginia. Delete the rest of the paragraph.

From Guy Yowell, Sherman, TX: Excerpts from a letter from Mrs. Emma Davis, my dad's sister, to her daughter Hilda giving some memories:

27. Leroy E. Yowell -- (Deborah Conklin's name should be Conkling) -- "Mr. and Mrs. John R. Conkling left their home in Springfield, Mo., in the year 1858 to come to Texas with a number of families coming in wagons. Would drive slowly all day and camp each night or make a coral with the wagons and sleep inside the coral or in the wagons. The trip took six weeks.

"The Conklings stopped across Red River from Bonham, settled down on a small farm which they bought by making payments. When all but the last payment had been made, Mr. Conkling would have had to sell his team in order to make the payment. The seller told him not to do that, that it would be all right. They thought him a good fellow, so took him at his word but before long they found out the man had sold the place to someone else. They had to give up their home, so they had a hard time. They moved to Bonham and worked at whatever work he could get. When the war between the states began some of his boys went to the army. One was 19 years old when he joined the army. He was killed before reaching the age when he would have had to go.

"Toward the close of the terrible war this family had gone to Dallas, got a small place and raised garden. He and his boys had to work so hard for a living.

"One of his son-in-laws by the name of Stow came home on a furlough and brought a man by the name of Leroy Emerson Yowell who was sick. He also was on furlough, his home being about 60 miles from Dallas, and was in the same regiment as Stow. They thought a lot of each other. "Mr. and Mrs. Conkling had a young daughter by the name of Deborah Jane who was about 18 years old. Lee was 28 but 10 years never made any difference with them. They fell in love, and since the war ended before Lee had to go back, they were married in a few months.

"They went to live near Kentuckytown on his father's farm. He was the oldest of four sons. His father's family had come from Kentucky about the same time the Conklings came from Missouri.

"Mother (Deborah Jane Conkling) said she and her brother walked about half of the way from Missouri to Texas. She was 10 years old."

5. Edna Yowell md. Westly Weakley of Madison. One daughter md. Printz. Lillian Printz md. Jasper Mitchell.

6. Sally Yowell md. Smith.

Roland II fought in the Civil War. When he moved near Washington Court House Ohio, he swam the river and visited his sister Margaret who was living there. When he came home he wanted to go to Ohio to settle but his mother talked him out of it, so he and Sally Deal lived at Durette, Madison Co. Frank, brother of Roland II, went out west. He owned a large herd of horses and much land. Sally Deal told fortune cards and would lay them out on her bed and say Frank is sick and soon they would get a letter saying he had been sick. Next time she might say I'll hear soon and so she did. Then she read the cards one day and said Frank is dead. She was so upset and soon the letter came saying Frank was dead.

Roland Yowell owned a large plantation and had 26 slaves. He said if the Yankees won, he'd loose all of it. He died before the war was over. Some said he grieved himself to death at the prospect of loosing everything. He is buried somewhere between Peola Mills and Ep Weakley's farm on a place owned by a John Brown (1956). The graves are on a rocky hill and can no longer be seen.

Sally Mitchell who married Roland Yowell, I was half Indian. Went off sometimes in her old age as folks often do and she was a regular tyrant and told everybody off.

Roland was a famous hunter and claimed he found a silver mine on Old Ray or Saddleback Mt. (now Thoroughfare Mt.?) This is believed to be true as he molded his own bullets and some of them were silver. His powder horn and shot pouch belonged to A. Brown, given to her by by Sally Yowell Brown.

Margaret Yowell Corbin went to Ohio in a covered wagon. They went through Washington, DC. Buchanan had just been elected President and banners were up welcoming him to the capital. They crossed at Harper's Ferry and camped there on the way to Washington County Court House, OH. Her father had been there before them and picked the place for them to settle. She lived to be 90 years old. They took along a coon dog among the other animals and all their money. One night they were going to a Belling Party and hid the money under a log and the next morning they had many anxious moments until they finally located it. After that they decided it would be safer to stop at taverns. When they drove out on the Ferry, Margaret was afraid all would sink. She spun and wove and read her Bible faithfully. She wrote to her father in VA to take care of her share of the property. Alvin Lewis (her grandson) has the letter. After Corbin died she married Isaac Fenner. He had a family by his first wife and they had one child. Savilla Gains Fenner (the daughter) md John L. Lewis and their children were Elsie, Anna Lucinda, Mary Margaret, William Alvin, John Wilber and Nellie May.

Sally Yowell Brown remembered her father's pack of hounds and the hunters and dogs coming in for breakfast and the great pans of corn bread which she baked to feed the dogs. There is a picture of James Yowell and Mary Murray Yowell. She was of German descent and descended from Pocohontas as well. The Murray family had a Coat of Arms. Nora Bell threw it in the fire and burned it up after her family raised so much cain with her because she had cut it in strips to make a slat bonnet. Beth Murray believed to be buried in Novum Cemetary. Mary and James are there in Madison, VA. James went blind and Sally, daughter, read to him aloud. She had to read the weekly paper cover to cover and loved to read aloud all her life. When she was getting ready to get married she picked blackberries and dried them and sold them for 3 cents a pound to get pin money for her trousseau. She had 16 dresses when she married . . . "More than I ever had after I married Tom Brown", she said.

She was sick in bed with measles and Tom came by and visited her through the window and proposed to her that way. They went to WV. TW worked for Mr. Manning as overseer for his farm. He made $105. a year and findings. At the end of the year they had saved $100. Sally raised turkeys. Bruce Jack was born Nov 17th at his grandmother's house at Novum. TW finished out his year and turned everything over to the new man at Christmas. They moved to Dawdel and after Sally's parents died, they took her part of the estate and bought the farm Glendenon. It contained over 1000 acres and was located between highways 15 and 29 south of Culpeper, VA. They lived there until they moved to Winston. Sold out there and moved to Culpeper. TW rana Bread Truck, sold insurance and worked for Geest Funeral Home. During the Great Depression, they lost their home on Asher Ave., Culpeper and moved back to Glendenon. Sally died there. TW moved to Winston and later to Broad St. in Culpeper.

313.iv., page 88: "Kertley Yowell and Rebecca Collins were married January 8, 1837..... Apparently, Rebecca Collins Yowell married three times. A letter to aunt Effie, which I quote below, refers to "your father" and to "our mother, Rebecca Maria McKinney." The only signature is "Molly." The family Bible records the birth of Mary A. B. Nichols on September 8, 1857, and the death of Rebecca M. Nichols, wife of Asa J. Nichols on March 14, 1878. From other family letter, I know Rebecca Collins Yowell was alive in 1877, and living then in Indiana. I believe she married Asa Nichols after Kertley Yowell died in 1847. But here is the quotation from the letter: "Your father's birthplace must have been in Petersburg, Boone County, Kentucky. His father's name was Kertley Yowell. I don't know if there was a middle initial or not. Where he came from, I don't know. Our mother's maiden name was Rebecca Maria McKinney. I think she was born in Maryland, but raised by French Catholics in the south in or near Natchez. Her cousin Henry Wingate went down south and took her up to Kentucky after her first husband died. As I understand it she was married at 14 and a widow the following year. It was after she went to Kentucky that she met and married Kertley Yowell." .... The 1840 Boone County, Kentucky, census shows Kirtley Youell as head of the household, while the 1850 census of Boone County shows Rebecca Youell, age 34, born in Maryland with Richard, age 13, born in Kentucky; Louis, age 11, born in Kentucky; and George, age 6, born in Kentucky. This again checks with the records in the Bible. .... The family Bible does not give the marriage of my grandfather, Richard Yowell (His second marriage is recorded, but all his children were by his first wife.) But another paper found in my aunt's possession was an account of the vital events in the life of the family, apparently recorded by my grandmother. Here she recorded: "Richard Chase Yowell and Sarah Louisa Lloyd were married Tuesday, January 29, 1861, at the residence of Nelson M. Lloyd in the town of Petersburg, Boone County, Kentucky, by the Rev. James Kirtley." .... Another variant in spelling the family name appeared in the death notice of George Yowell as it appeared in the Cincinnati Enquirer on May 16, 1877. Mrs. Gilmore Yowell, formerly of the Strother vicinity, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dol Hanger, in Santa Fe, Wednesday morning. She suffered a stroke of paralysis last Friday and this was the immediate cause of her death. She was one of the kindest and most motherly women in the county and her passing will be felt as a personal loss by all who knew her. To the aged husband and family the APPEAL extends sympathy.

Yaul was a fireman on the Little Miami Railroad, and leaves a young wife. The coroner's jury found a verdict of accidental death." .... I also recently acquired from my brother some old letters that were in the possession of my aunt Effie when she died. Among them was a receipt which establishes the first name of Jemima Yowell Rouse's husband. His name was Thomas Rouse. The IGI records show the marriage of Jaminma (sp.) Yowell and Thomas Rouse on October 6, 1834 in Boone County, Kentucky.

Corrections to the Bible entries in the graphic section as submitted by E. C. Yowell:

"George Campbell Yowell died on May 14, 1877, not May 13. This is testified by the obituary. I also have a letter written by my grandmother on May 27, 1877 in which she describes the accident and puts it on May 14, 1877. The other error is one I can vouch for personally. Margie and I were married on August 14, 1965, not August 15, 1965."

The author questioned Everett C. Yowell about the proper spelling of a name as it appears in the Bible entries. His reply: "In answer to your questions about Elizabeth versus Elizabell, Elizabeth is correct. You can check this by noting the names in the Who was Who profile of my father, where both Elizabeths are clear in the typesetting.....The Bible was first kept by Kertley Yowell. He entered his birth, his wife Rebecca's birth, their marriage, the birth of their first four children, and the deaths of William A. and Lucretia Ann Yowell. Upon his death, his wife Rebecca Collins recorded Kertley's death, and the birth of George Campbell Yowell. Rebecca married again sometime after 1850, probably to Asa J. Nichols, since her death notice shows her as his wife. I guess that Asa recorded the birth of Mary A. B. Nichols and the death of Louis P. Yowell. I assume the next recorder who recorded only Rebecca's death was her daughter Mary A. B. Nichols. At least the handwriting is compatible with that of "Aunt Molly"'s letter. The next major contributor to the records was Richard Chase Yowell. He recorded the births of his wife, Sarah Louisa Lloyd and their seven children; and the deaths of his first wife, Sarah Louisa Lloyd Yowell and of five of their children - Clarence, Elmer, Iris, John, and George Curtis Yowell who died in 1904. The notice of the death of George Campbell Yowell in 1877 appears to be in Richard's handwriting, but I believe the Bible was still in Rebecca's possession at the time. But Sarah Louisa's letter of May 27, 1877 tells of Richard going to Indiana to take the news of his brother's death to his mother. He might well have made the entry at that time. The Bible did not reach Richard until after his mother's death in 1878, and probably not till after 1887, because the deaths of Clarence, Elmer, and Iris are in reverse time sequence. This would mean that all of Richard's entries of births were after the fact. I do have a record he seems to have kept in the earlier years, and am enclosing a copy for your files. (Later in the letter Everett amends this statement and said that it was Sarah Louisa Lloyd who made the handwritten records found in another section of this addendum).

"After his first wife's death, Richard married again. His second wife was Carrie Pfeiffer, one of the teachers in Richard's school, and much younger than he was. She entered her birth, her marriage to Richard, and his death. After her death in 1951, the Bible was returned to my Aunt Effie, and was finally passed on to my sister Mary after Mother's death in 1974. Mary recorded all the events since 1911, all from memory. These include the births of me and my siblings, my sister's three children, and Mother's birth in 1878. She recorded our parents marriage as well as mine, my sister's and my brother's. Also, she recorded our parents' deaths and that of our Aunt Effie."

RICHARD CHASE YOWELL

Richard Chase Yowell was born in Petersburg, Boone County, Kentucky, December 28, 1838. His father was a Virginian by birth, of English descent; while his mother, of Scotch-Irish blood, was born in Maryland.

Mr. Yowell was educated in a private school and was designed for the ministry, but his plans were changed by the early death of his father. As a young man, therefore, he turned to teaching to support his widowed mother.

In 1858, he began his career as a teacher in Indiana, but removed to the Mornington District, then a suburb of Cincinnati, the following year. About 1867, he was transferred to the East End, where he gave the remainder of his life to school work, dying April 9, 1911.

Since John was over 45 in the 1810 Census (the only one he was listed in), judging by the will of his father, Christopher Yowell, Jr., with him listed second in receiving land, he must have been older than James, his brother, but younger than Elizabeth, his sister. Therefore, he was more probably born in the 1750's.

JOHN YOWELL FOUND DEAD IN BED

Cliffen of County Over 60 Years Passes
Away at Age of 79—Funeral
Friday Afternoon

John Yowell, a respected citizen of the community for more than 40 years, was found dead when a member of the family went to his bedroom to call him about 7 o'clock Wednesday morning, February 26.

While Mr. Yowell had been in poor health, though not bedfast, for several years he had not appeared to be in a less favorable condition of late, but on the contrary had felt better than usual on Tuesday, getting out on the street during the day and eating heartily Tuesday evening. Acute indigestion is believed to have been the cause of his death, which it is thought took place not long before the family discovered that he had passed away.

The funeral service will be held at the residence Friday at 1:30 p. m., conducted by Dr. John W. Crouch and Rev. John Holland, and burial will be at Liberty church.

Smith John Yeager Yowell, the son in six children born to John S. and Nancy Yeager Yowell, was born near Fayette in Howard county, Mo., Oct. 31, 1843. When he was 13 years old he came with his parents to this city, to which they made their home for several years.

On Oct. 31, 1871, he was married to Miss Nancy Loudermilk. Eight children were born to them, one son dying at the age of two years and one daughter, Bessie, at the age of 12. The six children surviving, besides the widow and five grandchildren, are Solomon and Edward of Minneapolis, Kans., Homer and Leonard of this vicinity, and Misses Cordie and Margaret at home.

The decedent was a member of Dover church.

Mr. Loudermilk had spent the most of his 79 years on the farm, coming to LaGrange three years ago when his health became poor. His sudden passing shocked the community and many friends sympathize with the family in their bereavement.

We had worked and had over 200 acres of land in Albemarle Co. and a nice home all paid for. He was a good husband, good father, good grandfather and he had many friends. The undertaker said it was one of the largest funerals he had ever had - over 1,000 paid their last respects to him. He never learned to say "no", he helped every one in need. We married March 11, 1933, almost 63 years together. I am glad my children are Yowells." (See newspaper clipping about this couple on the next page).

Stars of the 'Star Route' 30 Years

By MARGOT BORNBLOWER

From Earlysville to Dyke to Boonesville, folks are wondering what happened to the little green pickup that delivered their mail every day.

For more than 30 years, Bill and Virginia Yowell have seen to it that the mail goes through, no matter what. Two weeks ago, they retired with many happy memories.

Virginia Shuflet Yowell, born in Boonesville in 1913, delivered mail through the mountains of Northwestern Albemarle County when almost all the roads were dirt and ruts.

Beginning in 1941, from seven in the morning until late afternoon, she would drive an average of 110 miles a day, while her husband worked their 175-acre farm.

"That was hard living. You live over it now, and you wonder how did you ever do it?" said Mrs. Yowell, a robust woman with a broad smile.

The "star route," one of Albemarle's longest postal routes, served the small post offices of Brown's Cove, Mount Fair, Doyleville, White Hall, Macburn's River, Crozat, Boonesville, Mission Home and Dyke — many of which have disappeared with the centralization of the postal service.

This route, weaving in and out of the Blue Ridge Mountains, known among mail carriers as "the circle," was served by Virginia Yowell and her husband for about 18 years until it was reorganized in 1959.

For the past 18 years, the Yowells have driven the route from Charlottesville to Boonesville, going through Fren Union, Mission Home, Earlysville and Dyke.

"I expect we know about every rock in that part of Albemarle

MR. AND MRS. YOWELL SAW THAT THE MAIL WENT THROUGH
Sometimes They Carried More Groceries Than Letters

County," said Mrs. Yowell.

Yowell and his wife would share the driving, as they shared the work on the farm. Sometimes they would ride together, sometimes they would alternate days. During harvest time, she would deliver the mail by herself. If the children were sick, he would take over for a while.

Back in the 'forties, the Yowells were more than just mail carriers. "In the old days, cars were scarce. People walked places. Many times they would get rides with us in and out of town. We were the only transportation they had. There weren't any buses."

Mrs. Yowell said sometimes they carried more groceries than letters. "People would leave their grocery list in the mail box, or, if they couldn't write, we'd take it down for them. Then we'd drop off the list at the store and pick up the groceries on our way back."

Few homes in the rural areas had telephones, so the Yowells were often called upon to fetch a doctor or to take a sick person to the hospital. Whatever the emergency, they were always available to help.

In 1942, one of the worst floods in Albemarle County history washed out all the bridges and many roads in the mountain area. But the mail had to go through. Mrs. Yowell and a friend, Mrs. Herbert Morris, took the letters in backpacks, waded through streams and carried the mail on foot to the remote post offices.

"During the war there was no such thing as buying a car," Mrs. Yowell remembers. "Gas was rationed and so were tires. Our tires got so old that we had to borrow extras from everybody. One day, I remember, we had 17 flat tires. People won't believe it now, but we did."

"So I went down to the ration board in Charlottesville and showed them my blisters from changing all those flats. They said, 'You can't have any tires.' I said, 'I'm sitting here until you give me some tires.' I waited there until late afternoon and they finally gave me some."

"And I remember when we got our '37 Ford pickup after the old car had worn out. We were so excited, it was like Santa Claus. That's how badly we needed it," she said.

The job of a rural mail carrier was not without danger. Mrs. Yowell remembers one snowy evening she drove the mail up Simmons' Gap Mountain. "The pickup stalled on the second horse shoe bend. I was about three miles high and I had to back the pickup all the way down the mountain. I almost passed out at the bottom."

In the beginning the mail carriers worked 365 days a year. One Christmas it was snowing when Mrs. Yowell arrived outside a rural post office to deliver the mail. It was locked and everyone was in the church nearby singing carols. "I waited outside on the steps until the service was over and the postmaster came out. I nearly froze. I'll never do that again."

Eventually, the Post Office allowed carriers to take Christmas off -- but they were docked one day's pay. Now they have nine holidays a year, and, according to Mrs. Yowell, they are docked nine days' pay.

"We were always glad to see Christmas. But we'd tell our friends, 'Don't send us any Christmas cards, we handle them by the millions!'"

Mrs. Yowell said her postal patrons are always generous at Christmas. She and Mr. Yowell receive checks, fruitcakes and even an occasional bottle of bourbon.

The Yowells raised six children. Mrs. Yowell recalls that she would deliver the mail until the days she had a baby. "Young people wouldn't do that now. Then you had to, to earn a living. You were under bond to deliver the mail. You had to go."

When the children were young, her mother and sisters helped care for them. As they grew older, they often rode with their parents in the mail truck.

When Mrs. Yowell first began to deliver the mail on the mountains' circle route, she was paid $8 a month. "There were only about 50 mail boxes then and you could carry the mail in your hand. Now we serve 200 boxes and we use big leather bags," she said.

Until recently, she said, there were no names or numbers on the mailboxes. In Mission Home, Mrs. Yowell recalls there were three James Shiffelins. There were another three James Shiffelins in Dyke.

How did she tell them apart? "Well, you got to know who was writing them. Who they got bills from."

The third day of every month was social security day, said Mrs. Yowell. "Bill and I knew every person in our route who should get a check. And if a check didn't arrive that day, we'd know right away who didn't get one and we'd be able to tell the postmaster."

When July 4 rolled around this month, she said, her husband started thinking about social security day. He said he hoped everyone got their check, even if he wasn't there to make sure.

Now that the Yowells have retired on their farms in Buena Vista, Mrs. Yowell said she hopes to travel some day. "I've always wanted to go to the old country, to Jerusalem. A church group asked me to go a few years ago and I've always regretted passing it up. I'd like to stick my feet in the river Jordan."

409. Luray Yowell, obviously the 7th son of Christopher and Cary T. (Smith) Yowell, as mentioned in Adella Yowell's addendum to Clark S. Yowell's book. Submitted by Lillian Bickers of Charlottesville. This court record was found in the Madison County Court Records.

John W. Yowell was born in Jefferson County, Ky., in 1835, and is the son of Louray and Mildred Yowell. The father of our subject died at a very early date, but the mother is still living and a resident of Ohio. John W. was united in marriage to Nancy A. Painter, daughter of John and Martha Painter, both natives of Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Yowell have had three children of whom but two, Martha and Ulysses G., are living. At first our subject made Howard County, Mo., his home after leaving his native State, but came to Clark County, Mo., in 1859, where he has since remained, with the exception of two years spent in Keokuk, Iowa, and Knox County, Mo. He has farmed and followed several other occupations during his lifetime, and is now a blacksmith in Peakesville. Our subject served in the Thirty-ninth Missouri for two years during the war, and received an honorable discharge March 25, 1865. Both he and his wife are Christians, and he is a liberal donator as far as consistent with his means to all public enterprises.
